

CAA PROJECT FOCUS

RESIDENTIAL

Cameron Armstrong Architects has performed the roles of architect, designer, contractor and consultant for numerous residential projects of all sizes since 1993. These buildings have ranged in size from 1300 to 8,400 square feet, in construction from wood frame to reinforced concrete, and in technique from pre-fab kits to the making of furniture-like craft objects. Recent years have seen these interests converge in numerous designs produced in collaboration with clients located from Louisiana to Colorado. In all of this work, the designs have taken their direction from the careful, critical study of programmatic assumptions and requirements, inspired by the goal of producing architectural form directly from the totality of conditions bearing on each project, including those emerging from the site, broadly considered, as well as from the clients' needs.
